"Issue 63" Begins Again, Public Safety Dir. Gugas First Guest on October 17

Journalists on Panel,
McNair, Guest Oct. 24

"Issue 63," a program designed to acquaint Omaha University students and faculty with leaders of their community will go on the air again this year at 12 noon each Thursday, starting October 17.

The program will have as its first guest Chris Gugas, Public Safety Director of Omaha.

Panel Members

Each week panel members will be made up of journalism students with Dick Fletcher, a senior in journalism, as moderator. Fletcher said these programs will help his fellow journalists "get their feet wet" in news conference reporting while in school.

The job of directing and co-ordinating the program is in the hands of Tom Levermann, a Speech-Geography major minoring in Radio-TV.

Last Year

The first program of "Issue 63" came on the air on March 6, 1963 following an idea by Tom Levermann and Richard Mareel, both speech majors. Tom and Rich set up the series to help persons in the Radio-TV Department to gain experience in the operation and production of a television program. Tom said that the program is not correlated with any class.

Students and faculty members are invited to view the 'news conference' type program on closed circuit TV in room 312 in the Student Center.

Guests

On Oct. 24, the guest will be the Rev. Rudolph McNair, Pastor of Zion Baptist Church; Oct. 31, a representative from the bi-racial sub-committee; Nov. 7, City Councilman Fred Jacobberger and on Nov. 14, Col. Allen, an AFROTC Area Commandant for our area.

New Humanities Head Alters Class Program

Several changes in Humanities courses at Omaha University were made this term under the direction of Dr. Ralph Wardle, who has assumed the duties of Humanities instructor.

In the past years, each student enrolled in Humanities was required to meet once a week with a tutor and discuss the lectures, reading assignments and any problems and questions he might have. This system has been eliminated.

In place of the tutors, an hourly discussion group arrangement has been employed. These classes meet twice weekly, on Tuesday and Thursday, and are supervised and guided by intern graduate students.

Material used in the course was also altered somewhat. The first semester classes will study periods up to and including the eighteenth century. The nineteenth and twentieth centuries will be studied during the second semester course.

Dr. Wardle said that the course, which will enroll 300 students, is nearly filled to capacity.

NOTICE

Anyone interested in running for a class office, or freshman Student Council, must check out a petition next week in the Student Activities Office, SC 250.

The Ski Club will have an organizational meeting Oct. 17 at 3:30 p.m. The meeting will be in SC Room 313.

Orchesis tryouts will be Oct. 15 and 16 in the Women's P.E. Hut. They will begin at 4 p.m. and are open to both men and women.

Air Society Honors Cadets At Banquet

Twenty-one members of the AFROTC Advanced Cadets Corps were sworn into the Arnold Air Society Sunday night at the Officer's Club at Offutt Air Force Base.

The "dining in," as the banquet is referred to by Advanced cadets, marked the close of "Tiger Week".

New Members

The new members of the Arnold Air Society honored the senior officers of the AFROTC with the traditional presentation of swagger sticks. These sticks were made as part of a project in group action by the juniors during "Tiger Week."

Master of ceremonies, Cadet Major Frank Drefs, introduced all the members of the 470th AFROTC Detachment and their wives.

Cadet 2nd Lt. Robert Cords presented all the detachment members with model airplanes.

Presentation

Professor of Air Science, Lt. Col. E. P. Ratti, was presented a B-52 bomber model which symbolized the father of today's modern Air Force. An X-15, mounted beneath the wing of the B-52, symbolized the cadets in the AFROTC program, of which Col. Ratti heads.

The juniors also presented to the Commandant of Cadets, Captain Ray, a model of an F-100 fighter. The Director of Instruction, Captain Holtz, was presented with a model of the F-101 and Captain Seinwell, Ass't. Commandant of Cadets and sponsor of the Arnold Air Society at OU, a model of the U-2.

Major Swanson (USA, Ret.), in charge of the AFROTC Supply Room, was presented with a model of an Air Force cargo plane in hopes that "it would make his work a little bit easier," said Cords.

Redstone Missile

On behalf of all the new members of the Arnold Air Society, Cords presented the 470th Detachment a model of the Redstone missile with the "Freedom 7" capsule perched on top. He explained that "this is the symbol of the good use that rockets are put to today in the Air Force."

The evenings activities were capped off with a dance for the cadets after the banquet.

OU Sociology Class Does Study For City

Another Omaha University service to the community was revealed recently with the Omaha Urban League's release of a survey of Negro housing adequacies on the near northside. This survey was prepared in the spring of 1963 by Mr. Philip Vogt and his sociology class The Community, in cooperation with the Housing Committee of the Urban League.

Approximately ten per-cent (400) of the Negro families residing in an area bounded by Ames Avenue and Cuming, 30th and 16th Streets were interviewed. According to the sampling, approximately 50 per-cent of the residents were "reasonably satisfied" with their present housing. Over one quarter of those interviewed felt their housing conditions unsatisfactory because of deterioration, inadequate plumbing, crowding (21 per-cent over one person per room as compared to ten percent in all of Omaha), and old age.

These facts and others were realized from the answers to questions compiled by Mr. Vogt and Dr. George C. Helling, Sociology Department head, from a list submitted by the Housing Committee. After the students had finished a sample survey of 48 families, the original questionnaire was reworked and Mr. Vogt's class completed the survey for the Urban League.

CO-ED OF THE WEEK

The Gateway is pleased to honor Karen Sedoris as this week's Co-ed of the Week. The 19-year-old sophomore is a graduate of Benson High and is majoring in education. Karen hopes to teach after graduation, preferably poetry or English.

Our Co-ed likes all sports, including riding, baseball and squash. She is active in WRA, being the tennis chairman, and in her role as a cheerleader at OU.

EDITORIAL VOICE

Having read of the parking conditions plaguing colleges throughout the country, the GATEWAY feels that the administration of the University of Omaha deserves credit for its handling of the situation here on campus.

A survey of the college parking problem conducted by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company states that nearly two million automobiles will be driven to college campuses this fall.

What have some of these schools done about the problem?

For one thing, the study found that parking facilities are virtually non-existent at many colleges located in metropolitan areas. For example, the 24,000 full and part-time students at the College of the City of New York ride subways or fight for metered parking spaces.

Some of the Ivy League schools don't allow on-campus parking at all.

The University of Texas is one of many institutions of higher education that believe in the rule that prohibits all freshman from parking on-campus.

And, many colleges have an annual fee that must be paid before on-campus parking is permitted. These fees range all the way up to $10 a year.

The use of buses to transport students from off-campus parking facilities to the grounds is becoming a common practice. Rutgers, for instance, claims to have facilities for 3,000 autos. But, they have to provide a shuttle service to take the students to and from the off-campus lots.

What about OU?

Admittedly this problem also is present here. Two solutions have been floating about ever since 1955 when OU began its present system of metered parking.

Off-campus parking and a multi-level parking facility have been mentioned the most.

The Ak-Sar-Ben Field parking area has been mentioned for the off-campus parking facility. This might prove to be an economical project beneficial to both the students and the administration. However, a main problem with Ak-Sar-Ben would be the availability of the parking areas for consistent use. When the races are here, for example, Ak-Sar-Ben itself would need the parking and then where would the students who normally park there go?

The other method aimed at helping the problem, a multi-level parking ramp, poses the question of where to construct it, and, the cost of such a project also adds to the unfeasibility of the idea.

These are just a few of the problems that face the administration.

We know that it's easier to chastise than to praise, but let's be fair and give the administration a well-deserved pat on the back. They have done their best in attempting to solve a difficult problem and we feel they have done a commendable job.

Letters To The Editors

Humble!

As a worthless independent I would like to take this occasion to offer my most humble apologies to Mr. Fred Elsasser. Being a member of such an undesirable faction, I can only hope that my meaningless and rasping voice may be heard in the halls of his honorable fraternity mind.

I am sorry for ever having referred to the fraternal organizations at Omaha University as "frat," for never having a concept of organization, for not having the realization that my honorable compatriots at study are blood donors, and that Mr. Elsasser was chairman of such a drive and for not voting in an election in which I was so much a part.

My most grievous and heinous crime, however, is that of being responsible for OU's being called "West Dodge High," but then I am required to study for exams; my mind is not "filed."

Everyone has a purpose in life, yours is to lead, mine to be led. Without the worthless independent shuffling between classes and babbling to a selfish-self, to whom would you be superior?

I would like to conclude with my deepest sympathy and kindest wishes that Mr. Elsasser recover in the near future from his advanced state of paranoia.

Most miserably humble,
Greg Dunning

Car Wash?

Something besides campus politics has finally come clean at this University . . . and of all things, it's the parking stickers!

Rally around the left-rear bumper, boys, and watch us make fools out of those who would hand out guarantees. The parking sticker you are displaying with such an understandable, but abnormal, pride, won't last thirty seconds if you get the inclination to wash that auto-body, buddy.

We did, and it did.

So we took our woes to the person in charge of limited parking . . . or is it Parking, Ltd., as the British would say? Anyway, they issued a new sticker and said don't wash your car.

Advice notwithstanding, the car shall be washed . . . and washed . . . and washed again. And they'll keep having to re-issue me stickers, a habit that soon will wear a little thin, methinks.

What's to be done, you ask? Solutions vary and most of mine would be considered radical. They called Fulton that too, but his boat sailed anyway.

Ideas include the elimination of cars, of stickers, of parking areas, or of the University.

However, it might be better to just go on collecting parking stickers. After all, I may be the first kid on my block with a white polka-dot, left rear bumper.

Elections . . .

Yes election time is here again, judging from Kathleen Vail's diatribe against the Student Council printed in last week's Gateway. Well, shallow brooks are noisy, I always say. It's a shame that Miss Vail and several others possess so many misconceptions. Is she not cognizant of the fact that last spring's elections did not involve the manhandling that she mentioned? Campaigning was done only by the candidates themselves; the only complaint I heard was that election day was too quiet!

This fall's all-school elections (Oct. 30) will be conducted in a manner similar to the above mentioned election with one exception—in conjunction with the Student Council, Waokiya is sponsoring a pep rally and an informal coffee hour (Oct. 28) for the expressed purpose of giving the student body an opportunity to meet with the candidates, and to learn their qualifications. Alas, the non—"gunners" (?) will have a chance!

Miss Vail also appears to have a gross dislike for the "same old people, elected time after time", simply "because they are cute or have a nice smile." For her information, my teeth are crooked and discolored and I've been a student council member for three years.

I feel that this year's Student Council members are qualified, competent representatives.

To finish her letter, she also suggested "don't go to the Student Council . . ." If she would make it a point to find out who the Student Council members are, and to present her views to them personally, insipid letters such as hers of last week would not be necessary.

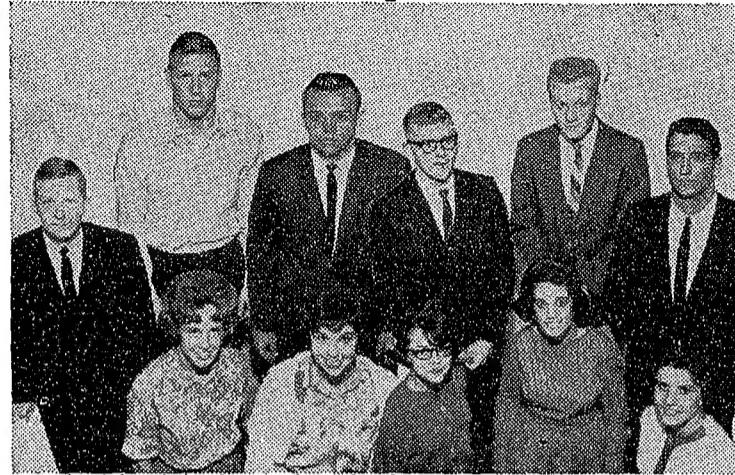

Touche', Miss Vail?

Alpha Xi Delta pledged Susie Quest Wednesday, Oct. 2 in open bidding.

Dee Sandvig Models On "Queen for a Day"

An Omaha University co-ed has been modeling on a nationwide television program this week.

Sophomore Dee Sandvig has been appearing on the "Queen for a Day" show that has been originating from the Civic Auditorium as part of the Golden Jubilee of Retailing.

The show used models from Omaha and the surrounding area. One hundred twenty six women applied for the positions; the field was narrowed to 35 by Mike Ruppe, the Promotion Manager for television station KETV and the shows' head model Maxine Reeves cut the group to five.

Dee and the other four models have appeared in the clothes that are a part of the prizes given to the lady who is chosen "Queen for a Day".

Dee is a member of Alpha Xi Delta and is the reigning Miss Omaha.

Bork's Rule Over, OU Starts CIC

Hays Entertains Hard Luck OU

BIG RED continues on the road tomorrow night as they invade Hays Kansas for a 7:30 game.

The opponent — Fort Hays State.

OU is up and is looking for a convincing win over the Tigers after suffering a loss to Northern Illinois last week. Another big reason the Indians will be up is to avenge a 20-20 tie with Hays last year. That tie was the only blemish on the OU record in CIC competition. They are also aware that a loss in a CIC game this year will almost certainly knock them out of contention for a title repeat.

Hays coach Wayne McConnell will be missing the charges of last years quarterback Dave Parker who contributed a 45 yard pass play against OU. Another big gap will be left by Jim Lee who scored twice last year and played an outstanding game at linebacker. From the interior line the Band Day crowd will be missing center Gerald Strecker and Ron Gardner at tackle.

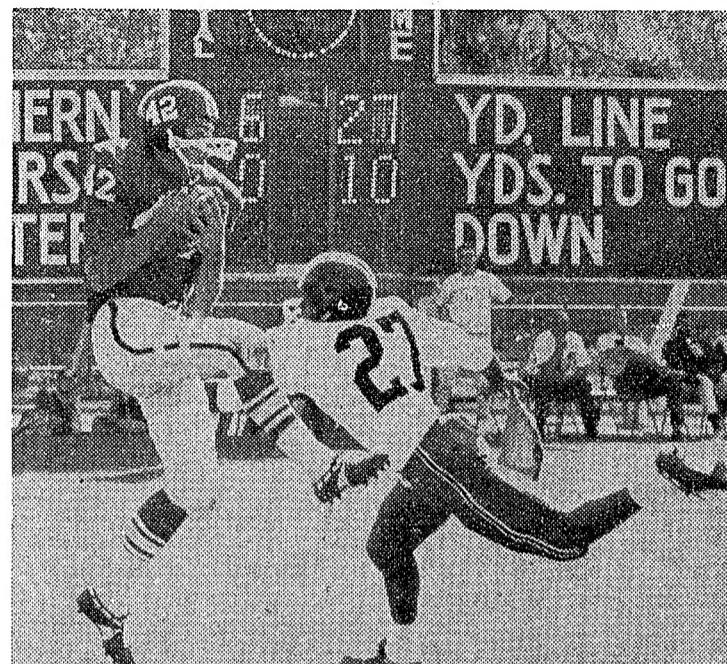

Moving around the team positions, Hays has three returning lettermen at the halfback spots. Jesse Kennis will probably draw one starting position. Kennis was named rookie of the year last year by his teammates. Charlie Canty, a 9.8 100 yard dash man is the other likely candidate at half.

The fullback spot is in good hands with the return of junior Steve Worley. The 200 pounder finished third on the Ft. Hays rushing chart last year.

In the quarterback spot directing the multiple "T" offense is sophomore Mike Matson. Jim Hill, a letterman will probably be held in reserve.

Going to the right side of the offensive line there is right end Bill Ham at 187 lbs. Right tackle is Clark Engle and at right guard is 194 lb Dave Jones.

OU's plight is told as Gary Stearns takes a Bork pass as Marlin Brisco makes futile attempt to stop play.

Quick Whistle Hurts OU

Al Caniglia's Indians found George Bork tough as ever and found his receivers equally terrific Saturday in an 18-7 loss to Northern Illinois at DeKalb before a Band Day crowd of 7,800.

Bork, who completed 37 passes against the Indians last year for an NCAA record of 337 yards, riddled the Indian secondary for 27 completions this time for 327 yards. Six foot six Hugh Rehrschneider was on the receiving end of twelve Bork flips.

Northern jumped off to a 6-0 lead near the end of the quarter on a 27 yard pass from Bork to Gary Stearns. The Huskies made it 12-0 with 4:56 left in the half when Rich Bader outjumped Marlin Briscoe in the end zone on a 19 yard Bork toss.

The Indians came right back for their only score when Briscoe picked off one of Bork's flat passes for Stearns and scooted 17 yards to paydirt. Meyers' kick made it 12-7 at the half.

Whistles, anyone?

The second half turned into a nightmare of missed opportunities and bad breaks for OU. Northern scored right away on a pass to Rohrseneider to jump out in front 18-7.

The Indians came rearing right back only to see a Roger Sayers fumble on the Huskie 20 ruin a scoring opportunity. After holding Northern, OU got the ball back again and moved to the Huskie 37 with Gerry Allen doing most of the work.

On third down, Meyers worked a trap pass and found Sayers alone on the two. Sayers went out at the one only to see the ball blown dead at the line of scrimmage by a fooled official. The bad break ruined the drive and Northern took over. Omaha came right back and moved to the Huskie ten on the next series of downs. This time a bad hand off resulted in a fumble at the goal line and again OU had lost out on a sure score.

The rest was unimportant. The quick whistles, penalties and bad breaks took all that was left out of the Indians. The win was the fourth in a row for Northern while Omaha dropped to 1-2 with Fort Hays up next.

ATTENTION BASKETBALL CANDIDATES

Basketball coach Jim Borsheim has issued an invitation to all men interested in playing varsity basketball to attend a meeting Monday. The meeting will be held in the Fieldhouse at 3:30 p.m. October 14.

Intramural Archery Slated Today, Zekes Leaders In Football Race

Lambda Chi holds top spot in Intramural Bowling with a 4-0 record and 2,256 pins, after the first week of competition.

TKE, Bootstrapper #1 and Delta Sigs also held records of 4-0 but with less total pins.

Johnny Gomez of Lambda Chi rolled a 659 for the high individual series and he is tied with Al Lowery of Bootstrappers #1 for High Individual game with a 236. High team game is also held by the Lambda Chis with a 777.

Being on top of the Intramural football race is a familiar one for the Zeke Moe Joes and this year is no exception. As of Monday, October 7, the Zekes held a record of 5-0.

On Tuesday, October 1, the Zekes held true to form by smashing Pi Kap hopes in a 16-0 victory. Bob Miller accounted for the first points of the game with a field goal. Frank Spencer later threw a touchdown pitch to Al Demoski, making the score 9-0 in favor of the Zekes at halftime. In the second half Spencer connected with Vic Meyers for another touchdown aerial which made the score 16-0. The Pi Kaps controlled the ball for 29 plays while the Zekes held it for only 21 in the regulation of 50 plays per game.
